

Online Student Expectations for Google Meets

Dress Code:

- A Google Meet session is just like attendance at school. Proper dress is required and absolutely necessary for success. A student should NOT be wearing pajamas or sleep clothing of any kind. You MUST be fully dressed. Your hair should be combed and teeth brushed just like any other day you attend school. Given the personal nature of remote learning, you can wear a hat if you prefer.

Behavior:

- Your behavior tells others all about you, what you value, and who you are as a person. Just like in school, you should be respectful to others. You should not use foul language of any kind. Slang words should also not be used. Just like in school, you should be using SOAR behavior. You should not be doing things that violate our school rules, even though you are in your own home.

Environment:

- Some environments are very much more supportive for education than others. Think of your school environment. It is not a casual environment where students hang out on couches or beds etc. In order to make the very best of your instructional opportunities, you should be in a place where you can sit upright, have plenty of light, and preferably quiet. It is understandable that in Remote Learning, multiple students in the same household will be on Google Meets. This makes it difficult. Like your approach to any other aspects of your learning, you must make a plan. Discuss with your siblings exactly what you need and when it is needed. If you have other difficulties, you may need to talk with your teacher and your parents.

Attendance:

- This is one of the most important pieces of your Remote Learning experience. In order to learn, you must be in attendance. Students at the High School will be required to log on to their teacher's Google Meet in order to get instruction, support, and guidance to advance your skills and knowledge. The NEW requirement is that you will attend each class period everyday just the same as if you were in the building. Failure to log on at the normally scheduled time will result in your being marked as absent. Too many absences will result in truancy. This is not the goal. However, in order to meet your goals and advance your learning, you must engage with your teachers.

Google Meets:

- The expectation for your participation in Google Meets is that you will KEEP your camera on at all times. This is so that you are accountable for being physically present and engaged with your teacher.
